

Transit Report for Sarah & Holland

TIME TOGETHER

Nov 18, 2023 - Feb 03, 2024

Interpretations by John Townley

Composite Transit Report by: Cafe Astrology
<https://cafeastrology>.

Your Composite Chart

A composite chart is simply a horoscope made up of the midpoints between the natal charts of two different persons. What results is a new horoscope that describes the interface between the two personalities: the shoreline where one leaves off and the other begins. Like any coastline, it may be even and easygoing at one point and convoluted and forbidding at another. And, like any shore, it is subject to fair and stormy weather. This astrological "weather" is the repeating transits of the planets.

Watching these transits, you can spot a host of intricacies in your relationship that you likely did not know were there. Once spotted, you have the opportunity to take better advantage of what is already going for you and more effectively grapple with problems that were hidden or only partially-revealed before.

Emotional Examination

This is a good time for letting one of you express how both of you feel and give the other one a welcome rest. It's really all about passive agreement on issues that are so much shared that it doesn't matter who's forming the words, since there's no disagreement or competition over just exactly what's meant.

Emotional Stengthening Arises

There's broad agreement that you're looking good today, so it can't hurt to get out and play, interact, generally have fun and shoot the breeze, indulge in bluesky imagination, and expand upon yourselves. The tide is running nicely in your favor, so ride it and see where it takes you, enjoy the scenery along the way.

Spiritual Signs

Mixed feelings and confused messages get lost because you're at loose ends about just how to apply your separate imaginations to become joint reality. Let the mists pass and brush away each other's cobwebs without tarnishing any fondly-held fantasies and you'll find better focus down the road in a day or so.

Sublimate Feelings

There's a feeling of strolling along, what composers call andante, in which your feelings and energies are perfectly in tune, even to the point of barely noting it. Comfort comes less from getting what you want but from doing it, knowing you're both nicely in sync and quite sufficiently pleased with it as well.

Public Success

The size and scope of your mutual ambitions and requirements for growth could appear to be at odds -- what seems too much to one may seem not enough for the other. But it's all about good things, essentially -- you can't have too much of them, or can you? In the end, compromise is achieved, or surfeits will be come losses.

Feeling Innovative

How far out can you go, what is the limit of tolerance for untrained or untamed experience for both of you? That's a question to explore for a moment, as it will tell you just how far to push each other for fun before it becomes scary, and what one of you may feel thrilled by that may in fact offend the other. These boundaries keep changing, so you need to keep probing them for mutual enlightenment (good) and emotional safety (essential).

Keep Control

There are moments when a relationship is more than an active dynamic, it's also something you can lean on. That's in part reinforced by outside events that make you glad you have the mutual protection with someone comfortably but actively watching your back. When you know what to expect, you can take the time to savor it.

The Experience

There are limits to what you can and can't do, jointly or alone, which include everything from location to health to the state of the union. How much space do you each control and where are the mountains that cannot be scaled, from which you must divert your paths? Are they the same for both of you? Update your realistic powers so you know what you really can and can't try to do. The thought for this day.

It may seem that what's desired is way out at the limits of your current growth cycle, the borderline between reach and grasp, so don't hesitate to turn down an opportunity that might force you to go a bridge too far. Feelings Are Accented

This monthly transit or "lunar return" is quite important as it is a primary cementer of the relationship. It marks the transfer of emphasis of the monthly emotional from one of you to the other, the handshake point at which you are truly emotional equals. Rebond well now, and it all builds for the better.

Ideas of Love

If you've been wondering just what you both want out of this relationship, now's the time it's likely to come to you, so take notes. It can come from within, or it can be by suggestion, so keep your mutual eyes and ears open for the perfect solution that pleases and the pleasures that solve problems you didn't know you had.

Love of the Future

The season is smiling on your relationship, which invites both pleasure and bounty at the moment, making you seem good together and garnering general approval for who you are and the way you're operating. Gather in the fruits while they are ripe and take a few pictures while you're at it to remind you.

Objective View

This is one of two points in the lunar month which highlight the exchange of your differences and similarities and can sometimes put them into competition. You may feel that circumstances are putting unfair or irresolvable demands on the two of you or favoring one over the other. Avoid getting dragged into temporary issues and readjust.

Feeling Critical

There's a feeling of strolling along, what composers call andante, in which your feelings and energies are perfectly in tune, even to the point of barely noting it. Comfort comes less from getting what you want but from doing it, knowing you're both nicely in sync and quite sufficiently pleased with it as well.

Innovative Acceptance

There's a nice stimulus going to add a little spice to your meal without crossing national borders to explore risky restaurants. It's easy to kick up the notch a bit, without blowing yourselves away in the process. In fact, at this moment, you can reach new levels of originality with relatively little emotional risk.

Public Words

This is one of two days in the lunar month when you may really not agree on what your plan ought to be or just how to implement it. You can get into a lot of diminishing returns and waste emotional and mental energy, or you can make a list of what's not really hitting things right, then discuss it on better aspects later. The choice should be obvious.

Feelings Are Accented

This time of the lunar month reminds you of your emotional commitment here, perhaps even sparking off a twinge or two of duty and recognition of why you're involved together. It can also make unresolved issues come up which are at the heart of what you need to learn by being together, the nature and sometimes burden of the relationship.

Public Sentiment

Sometimes even the sweetest things cloy, or you can't immediately get what you want, while what you don't want is all around you. Don't let it get you all cramped up, as this twice-monthly moment will move on soon enough. Particularly, don't argue about it, because it's not really either of your fault. No blame.

Building Discipline

There are moments when a relationship is more than an active dynamic, it's also something you can lean on. That's in part reinforced by outside events that make you glad you have the mutual protection with someone comfortably but actively watching your back. When you know what to expect, you can take the time to savor it.

Critique Stories

Anything you say may and will be used in your favor right now, so opening up your joint feelings is the natural and most profitable approach to the situation. You don't have to go out of your way together to make a point, as the slightest communication will get it across -- a word to the wise, or to anyone, will suffice.

Manage Emotional Stengthening

It's a good time for tending to mutual work and finance matters as there's increased general support for what you do -- not enough to make you famous by yourselves, but certainly added encouragement to get you there under your own steam. Positive reinforcement is like having a second engine driving your vessel.

Ideas to Act On

When the night is right, turn out the light. This is a moment of opportunity to get what you really want out of each other and push for ever greater satisfaction. The inclination is to spare no energy to hit the mutual mark, and that's just what you should do. Put pressing public matters aside, if necessary, and enjoy the ride.

Inspired Ideas

There is a place between you where only the imagination lives and grows, that misty land of dreams and fantasies, hopes and fears, romance and reward which provide the seeds for growth. On this monthly lunar touch, now's the time to revisit it and see what new water springs within the well you both drink from.

Planned Effort

Energy flows naturally through your relationship, allowing you easily more accomplishment from joint efforts -- though "effort" is not the word, since there doesn't seem to be much required. It's one of those times that can make mutuality and interdependence so addicting, which at less ideal moments you seek to retrieve.

Put Up with Change

Sometimes the limits of your life are so subtle that they entirely escape you, and that is all for the best at the moment. You feel you are on the right track, but not necessarily that you put yourselves there, but none of it matters when there is no storm in the offing. Faithful, prosperous emotional weather is a treasure, indeed.

Easy Harvest

A quiet moment of mutual reinforcement is welcome here, when you together seem to fit particularly well into your surrounding circumstances, allowing you to go with the flow without even noticing you're doing it. Just enjoy your mutual orbit and the natural forces which favor your presence in the same spot.
